

UNIT - I
INTRODUCTION TO MANAGEMENT
AND ORGANIZATION

Q1. Principles of Management – Henry Fayol 14 Principles

Henry Fayol gave 14 principles of management. These principles help managers organize work, guide employees, and achieve organizational goals

1. Division of Work

→ Work should be divided among employees according to their skills and ability.

Example: One employee handles accounts while another handles sales.

2. Authority and Responsibility

→ A manager should have the authority to give orders and also the responsibility to complete the work.

3. Discipline

→ Employees should follow the rules and regulations of the organization.

Example: Employees should come to work on time and follow company rules.

4. Unity of Command

→ An employee should receive orders from only one superior. This avoids confusion.

5. Unity of Direction

→ Activities having the same objective should have one plan and one manager.

Example: All marketing activities should follow one marketing plan.

6. Subordination of Individual Interest to General Interest

→ The interest of the organization should be given more importance than the personal interest of an employee.

7. Remuneration

→ Employees should receive fair and reasonable payment for their work. Good salary motivates employees.

8. Centralization

- Decision-making authority should be properly balanced between top-level managers and lower-level employees.

9. Scalar Chain

- There should be a clear line of authority from the top level to the lower level of the organization.

Example: Manager → Supervisor → Employee

10. Order

- There should be a proper place for everything and everyone.
- Employees and materials should be placed where they are needed.

11. Equity

- Managers should treat employees fairly and equally.
- There should be no unfair discrimination.

12. Stability of Personnel

- Employees should be given enough time to learn and perform their jobs.
- Frequent changes of employees should be avoided.

13. Initiative

- Employees should be encouraged to give ideas and take initiative in their work.

14. Esprit de Corps

- There should be team spirit, unity and cooperation among employees.
- Managers should encourage teamwork.

Fayol's 14 Principles – Thanglish Version

1. Division of Work

- Ellarum same work panna koodathu. Each person-ku separate work kudupom.

2. Authority and Responsibility

- Nee order kudukkalam, but mean time namma work complete panra responsibility-um irukku.

3. Discipline

- Company-la employees' rules follow pannanum like Time-ku office-ku varanum, company rules follow pannanum.

4. Unity of Command

- One employee → One boss. Two bosses order kudutha confusion aagidum!

5. Unity of Direction

- Same goal-ku one plan + one manager irukkanum. Example: Marketing team-ku one marketing plan.

6. Subordination of Individual Interest

- Un personal interest vida company interest mukkiyam. Company first, personal interest next.

7. Remuneration

- Good work → Fair payment.

8. Centralization

- Important decisions-la authority ah proper ah balance pannanum.

9. Scalar Chain

- Company-la authority-ku clear path irukkanum. Manager → Supervisor → Employee

10. Order

- Everything should be in the proper place.

11. Equity

- Manager fair-aa and equally treat pannanum. No unfair treatment.

12. Stability of Personnel

- Employees-a frequent-aa change panna koodathu. Avanga own space la learn pannanum

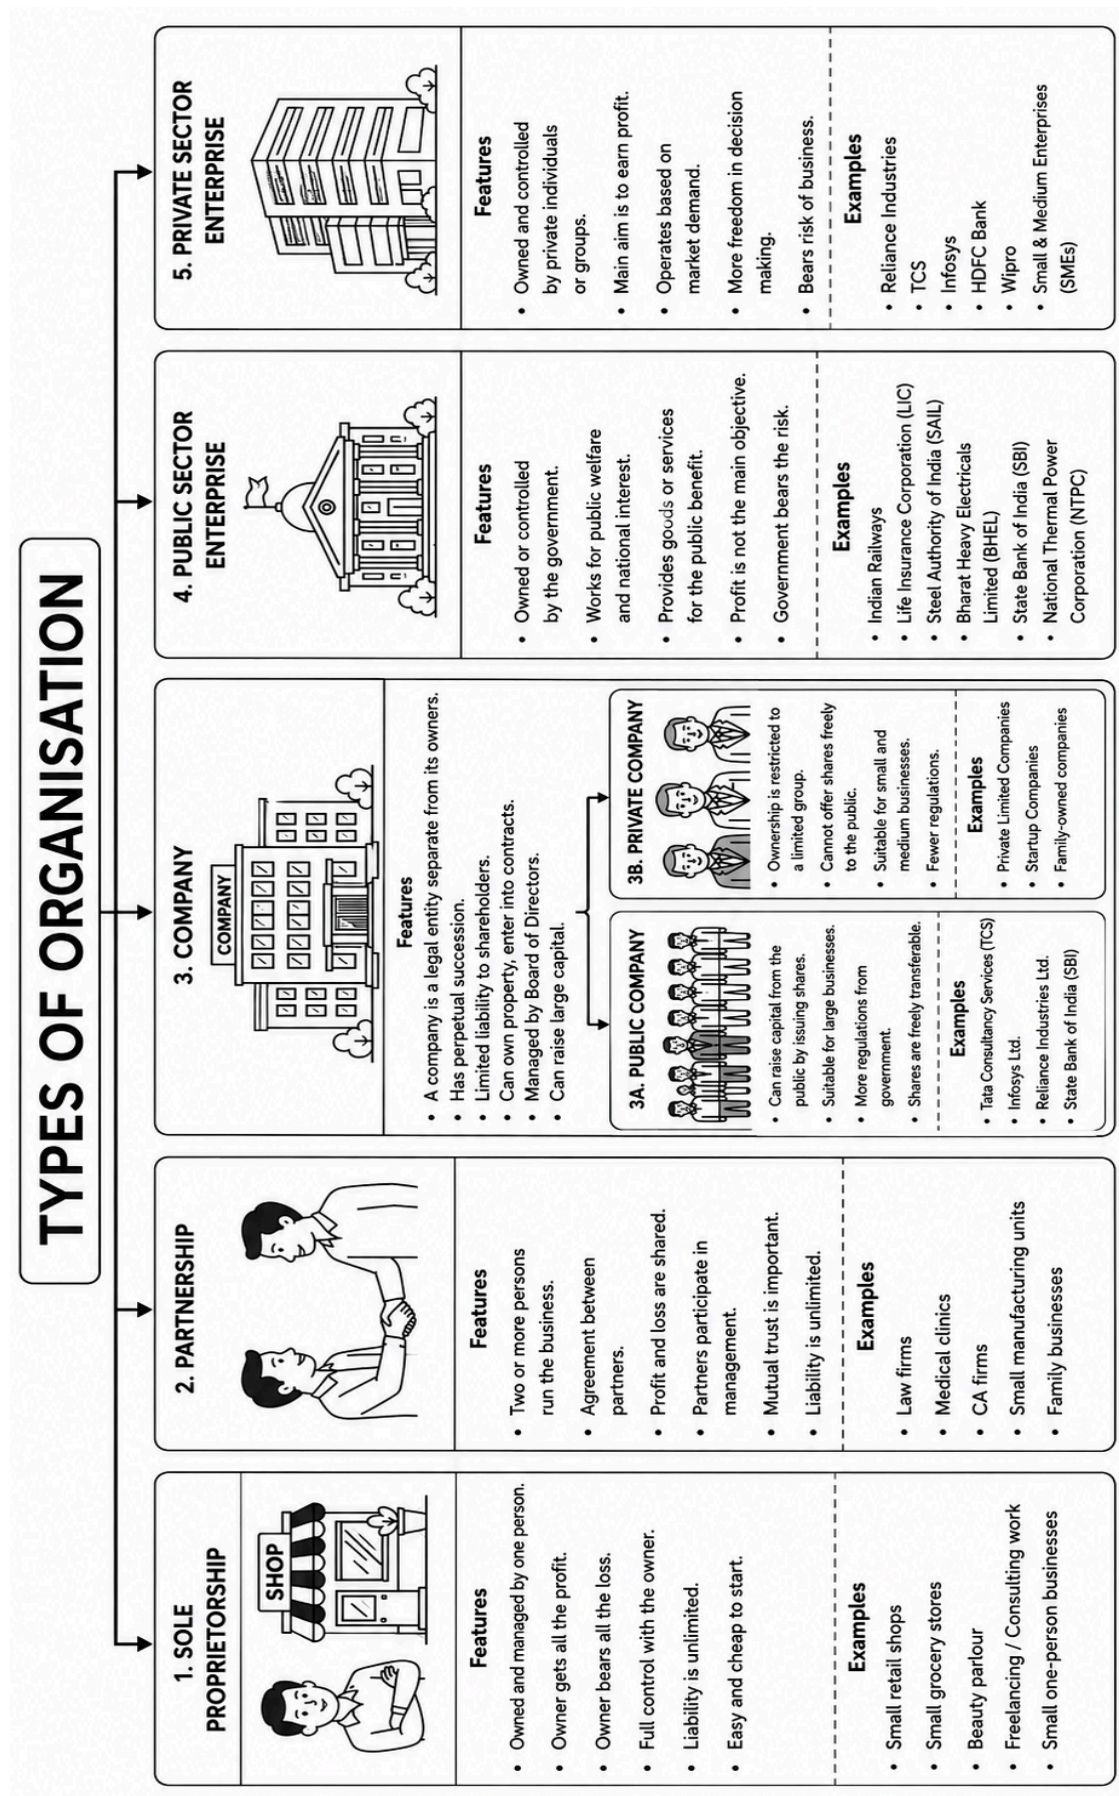

13. Initiative

- Ungalukku new ideas irundha freely sollunga.

14. Esprit de Corps

- Namma ellarum oru team! Team spirit, unity and cooperation irukkanum.

Q2. Types of Business Organisation

Q3. Functions Of Management

There are 5 main functions:

1. Planning

Planning means deciding what to do in the future.

Manager decides:

- What to do?
 - When to do?
 - How to do?
 - Who will do?
-

2. Organising

Organising means arranging people and work properly.

The manager divides the work and gives responsibility to employees.

3. Staffing

Staffing means selecting the right people for the right jobs.

It includes:

- Selecting employees
 - Training employees
 - Developing employees
-

4. Directing

Directing means guiding and motivating employees to do their work.

A manager:

- Gives instructions
 - Communicates with employees
 - Motivates workers
 - Guides employees
-

5. Controlling

Controlling means checking whether the work is going according to the plan.

If there is a mistake, the manager takes corrective action.

